TOP DESTINATIONS FOR STUDENTS

Educators can use technology to expose students to far-flung places with ever-increasing depth, but there will always be a difference between seeing and experiencing a place. Photo galleries, streaming video and libraries of information cannot replace walking through a city, hearing the local dialect or seeing historical artifacts up-close. Educators can work with professional tour operators to select destinations that match curriculum, time and budget requirements for school trips. Here are 21 top destinations with amazing experiences for students.

A British Art Invasion:
The Alternative London Walking Tour guides students through East London to see the works of more than 40 street artists. Read more on page 18.

4 Calgary

Students visiting Calgary's Heritage Park Historical Village will learn firsthand about western Canada's past. The park is the country's largest living history museum and offers insights into the ways of life for the area's native cultures and the Mounties and fur traders who settled there in the 1880s. Groups can participate in the raising of a tipi or a drumming circle in Heritage Park's First Nations Encampment. They also can ride a train pulled by a steam-powered locomotive, go on a paddlewheel boat or walk through a 1910 town where they will see, hear and taste life on the Canadian prairie.

“Students visiting Heritage Park Historical Village in Calgary will find themselves immersed in western Canada’s unique past.”
